87 Vote Precincts Okeh In County

A resolution adopted Monday by the County Commission officially boosted the county's voting precincts to a total of 87—more than double the old number.

The new precincts and polling places were handed to the board by Registrar Dan Gorham who said the new list is complete except for some last minute changes that might have to be made in polling places.

In another action on elections, the commission received a bill for overtime paid employees in the registrars office during the recent school board trustee election.

A covering letter said the school board had refused to pay the bill and payment was being sought from the commission.

The commission took the position that most county employees salaries are set as so much per day—regardless of the hours worked.

The bill was referred to the county attorney and comptroller for discussion with school board officials, the commission declining to accept responsibility for school board trustee elections.

New Sunday School Rooms Nearing Completion At Canal Point Baptist Church; Many Donations

The Canal Point Baptist Church is well on the way toward completion of the New Sunday School Rooms, including the kitchen and dual-purpose recreational room. This week the plasterers are completing the plaster work on all the walls, both inside and outside. The carpenters are busy putting the finishing touches on the trim work inside. The electricians have installed the light fixtures, the wall receptacles and light switches, making it possible for the use of the electrical appliances, the heat-pump, the air conditioner and all the other electrical appliances. The toilets are ready for use.

The Nursery Department, both Sunday School and Training Union, utilizes two well lighted and ventilated rooms, one for the bed-babies, and one for the older ages. The Beginner Department is large enough to adequately serve all the needs of the pupils, their teachers and helpers. The spacious Primary Department will be ready for use in a few days. The Pastor's Study is well situated, being easily entered from the front porch and also from the Recreational Room.

The air conditioner, supplying heat for the winter, and cool air for the summer, is already in operation.

On Wednesday night, December 20, the annual Church Christmas Program and Services will be held, the first part in the Church auditorium, and the concluding portion, including the Christmas Tree activities and the serving of refreshments, will be held in the new building, in the recreational room.

Charles D. Stewart, is the Pastor. Grady T. Echols is the General Chairman of the Building Committee. R. J. Maxson is Chairman of Construction, I. G. Weeks is chairman of finance, A. T. Holt is the Treasurer. There are several other committees, and each one is making substantial contributions to the successful accomplishments of this building program. Everybody is showing a beautiful spirit of cooperation.

Special gifts to date include a water heater, contributed by Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Nall, an electric refrigerator contributed by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rardin, an electric stove, contributed by the Night Circle of the WMS of the Church. Other items of equipment are soon to be brought in by various individuals. If you wish to make a contribution of any kind or amount, it will be greatly appreciated and gladly used.

It will be in the spring time before the entire building will be completed. The Building Committee reports that the cost of the completed project will be somewhat under the estimated $30,000 cost.

The public is cordially invited to visit the Church, and share in the use of the beautiful and serviceable educational facilities, used in the worship and services of the Lord.

Elks Turkey Shoot 3 Days Next Week

The Elks Club in Pahokee is sponsoring a Turkey Shoot three days next week—Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Dec. 21, 22, 23. The Lodge didn't have much success with their Thanksgiving turkey shoot and this was contributed to the fact that very little publicity was given the event. The upcoming shoot is being advertised through the efforts of a one-man committee—Dr. Wilburn C. Young.

If you feel lucky and want to have a little fun just drop by the Elks grounds any one of the three afternoons next week and you may win a great big turkey free of all charges. And, in case you don't want a turkey, tell your friends so they can win one.

Ten Game Schedule For C. P. Basketeers

Mr. Threlkeld's basket ball boys have been practicing for the past week at Canal Point School. Eighteen boys from the seventh and eighth grades have reported for practice. The first games have been planned after the Christmas Holidays. Coach Threlkeld is expecting to have a ten game schedule.

Young Gabaldon Scores At Jr. College

Val Gabaldon is on the Varsity negative debate team for Palm Beach Junior College. He was selected by the members of the affirmative and negative teams as team captain. The weekend of November 19 there was a work shop at Palm Beach Junior College in which Val and his partner, Donald Deakin, won 2 out of 3 debates, defeating Manatee and Indian River Junior Colleges. The weekend of December 3, they participated in a tournament in Gainesville winning 3 out of 5, defeating Dade County College, University of South Florida and Florida State University.

Vacation Begins Tuesday, Dec. 19th

The teachers and students are counting the days until December 20, when their Christmas Vacation begins. Following a two weeks vacation, school classes will resume their regular schedule on January 2, 1962.

Tuesday afternoon, December 19, each room will have their Christmas parties complete with decorated trees, gifts and refreshments.

Special Group To Study Four-Laning

Pahokee City Council appointed a "Major Thoroughfares Committee" at the council meeting Monday night with instructions to study the proposed four-laning in Pahokee and report back to the council.

During the past couple of years there has been a lot of yow-yowing about a proposal to four-lane a part of SR15 (Bacom Point) and US441 (Main Street north from Lake Avenue) with proponents and opponents making a lot of noise on each side of the controversy.

The State Road Department made a preliminary survey from the City Park north to Lake Avenue back of Bacom Point Road. Maps of this survey are now on display at the city hall and may be inspected by any and all folks who are interested in the proposal.

At the council meeting Monday night the council voted a bonus of $10 to each city employee as Christmas gift.

Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Thompson had as guests this past week, Mr. and Mrs. Joy Cullison of Cash, Arkansas and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Cullison of Ft. Bragg, North Carolina.

Gonna Study Map About Four-Laning

Honorable Paul Rardin
Board of County Commissioners
Canal Point, Florida
Dear Mr. Rardin:

We recently received a letter from Mr. Stephen Middleton, County Engineer, in which were inclosed the right of way maps for State Road 441 thru Pahokee. Also inclosed were petitions signed by a number of local citizens going on record as opposing any widening of this road.

Mr. Middleton's letter stated that the Board of County Commissioners would like the advice of the City Council as to the course of action the Council wishes the County to take.

Please be advised that these maps have been reviewed by our City Planning Board and upon their recommendation the Council has appointed a Major Thoroughfares Committee to try and work this matter out among the citizens and report back to the Council their findings.

We appreciate so much the co-operation which we have received from your fine Board with regard to this matter, and we will advise you as to the findings of this committee as soon as possible.

Very truly yours,
Patricia Batchelor
City Clerk

Belks To Operate Pahokee Airport

The Palm Beach County Commission this week approved an agreement for a lease operator for the Glades Airport at Pahokee.

The agreement—to run for five years with the county sharing profits with the operator—named Frank and Sam Belk, Glades crop dusters as the base operators.

The County Commission Monday appeared to be making a concerted effort to see that there will be no unfinished business for the New Year.

In a session which lasted all day long, the board handled a wide variety of routine business—most of it time consuming but strictly run of the mill actions.

Said Commissioner Paul Rardin, Canal Point as he viewed the stack of papers in front of Vice Chairman Lake Lytal who was presiding "I'll never make it home by sundown today."

Exchange Party By Garden Club

Mrs. Glenn Powell's home in Canal Point was the scene Wednesday afternoon of the Canal Point Garden Club gift exchange party, with Mrs. Floyd Erickson as co-hostess. Christmas arrangements were placed at vantage points throughout the house. On the mantle two jolly fat red velvet Santas stood guard over their reflections in the mirror and a white Christmas tree fashioned of toothpicks and styrofoam balls decorated with small red ornaments graced the large coffee table. The gaily wrapped Christmas presents neatly stacked on the floor under the coffee table carried out the theme.

The short business session was conducted by Mrs. M. C. Carter, the club president. Mrs. Wilson gave a report on the Bazaar held last month in the Community Hall which showed a profit of $250.

Mrs. Evans gave an interesting talk on the tour through Fairchild's Gardens which she took last Thursday with Mrs. Carter, Mrs. Stringari, Mrs. Powell and Mrs. Erickson.

FLORIDA POWER & LIGHT CO.
HELPING BUILD FLORIDA

IMPORTANT NOTICE FOR PALM BEACH COUNTY VEGETABLE GROWERS:

Now is the time to switch to Phosdrin® Insecticide to maintain complete protection against insects while you are picking and cutting, without creating residue problems.

Powerful Phosdrin Insecticide gives you fast knockdown and kill of aphids, mites, loopers, worms—almost all destructive pests attacking Florida crops.

Then, unlike most other insecticides, Phosdrin disappears, leaves no residue.

Read how Phosdrin can save your crop from late-season insect damage or worse, confiscation. Check the chart below for the intervals that apply to your crops.

If not controlled, a late-season insect build-up can quickly downgrade—or make completely unsalable—vegetable crops such as tomatoes, beans, potatoes, peppers, celery, watermelons, eggplants and most leafy vegetables.

If the infestation is controlled with an insecticide that leaves excess residue on the crop at harvest, the crop is subject to confiscation under the terms of the Miller Amendment to Public Law 518.

Phosdrin solves problem

This is a problem that many growers are solving with Phosdrin Insecticide.

Phosdrin is a powerful new phosphate insecticide that kills the toughest insects fast, usually within a few minutes of application. However, unlike most other insecticides, Phosdrin disappears rapidly after it has done its job—leaves no residue.

That's why Phosdrin can be applied up to 24 hours from harvest on many crops—up to 72 hours from harvest on most others.

NOTE: See table below for the insects Phosdrin controls and how close to harvest it can be used on your crops.

Hard-to-kill insects

Phosdrin solves other problems too. It controls insects such as cabbage loopers and aphids that are becoming harder to kill with older insecticides. That's why more and more growers are making Phosdrin an integral part of their full-season program.

Good mixer

Phosdrin is compatible with most other insecticides and fungicides. And Phosdrin offers a wide margin of safety to the foliage and fruit of insecticide-sensitive crops such as cucumbers and lettuce.

Low cost

Don't be misled by the cost per pound or gallon of Phosdrin. A little Phosdrin goes a long way. For example, as little as ¼ to ½ of a pound per acre is all it takes to control the toughest insects attacking many vegetables. Dosage rates seldom exceed ½ of a pound per acre. In short, on a per acre basis, Phosdrin is very economical.

Where to get Phosdrin

Phosdrin is available from your local insecticide dealer under many well-known brand names. It comes in liquid and dust formulations that are easy to apply with standard application equipment.

Remember, look for the name Phosdrin on the label or in the ingredient statement.

The Farm Front

In our latest battle to prevent screwworms from invading Florida again and getting another foothold that could menace the livestock industry in the entire Southeast, we have had to resort once more to the sterile male technique which worked so well in the eradication program of 1953-59.

By this method, screwworm flies are made sterile by submitting the pupae to radiation from Cobalt-60, and distributing the factory-produced flies from planes over the countryside. When sterile males mate with native, fertile females, the latter's eggs are infertile. No new flies result from such mating and thus the native population is gradually reduced to the vanishing point.

It took some 20 years or more of experimentation, research and field trials to prove out the theory on which this technique was based. But it was proved and Florida got rid of screwworms.

After the astonishing success of the screwworm eradication program for Florida and the Southeast, in which Florida shared the cost with USDA, many people have asked me why the same thing couldn't be done with the common housefly. It was a good question. But they didn't realize that individual methods of eradication have to be developed for each type of pest because of the differences that exist between them.

We dispersed 50 million to 75 million sterile screwworm flies every week for nearly two years over all of Florida and parts of Georgia and Alabama in the eradication program. But that particular fly doesn't bother homes and kitchens nor picnics and barbecues. To use the same method for wiping out houseflies would require dispersal of billions more, and you can imagine what our problems would be contending with numbers like that.

However, scientists may be on the trail of housefly eradication and the sterile male technique still appears to be the basis for the glimmer of hope that appears in a recent news report. Current research is being conducted to obtain sterility of males by use of chemicals. Mixed with bait to attract the males, the chemical renders them sterile. Once that is accomplished, the cycle of reproduction is interrupted and as time goes on the fly population fades out.

Florida again has been the scene of eradication experiments. Chemical company scientists used selected islands in the Florida keys the past summer and reduced housefly population there by 80 per cent. The tests appear to have been somewhat similar to earlier tests made on wiping out the screwworm on Sanibel and Captiva Islands off the West Coast near Ft. Myers. The population was drastically reduced then, but reinfestation kept occurring from the mainland.

Man has been battling insects from time immemorial. Many references to plagues of insects are to be found in the Bible. As carriers of disease they rank with rats and other vermin. Only in modern times have man's efforts to reduce the menace of insect pests met with measurable success. It's a constant battle. In some instances the target insect has achieved resistance to a new "miracle" insecticide and, after a temporary reduction in numbers, has recovered and increased again to its normal population.

To wipe out, or even greatly reduce in numbers, some insect pests is quite an undertaking when you consider how fast many insects reproduce. For example, the descendants of one pair of houseflies, providing all survive and reproduce normally, during a single summer season from April to August, would make a total of 191 Sextillion. That's 191 followed by 18 zeroes, or 191 Billion Billion.

Our Division of Plant Industry at Gainesville has pinned and labeled 250,000 insects found in Florida. That collection — nationally famous — represents 25,000 different species, and they still have several thousand more insects on hand to classify and label.

The different species in Florida, however, are a modest number. The world total of different kinds of insects is estimated at somewhat between 625,000 and 900,000. Of all animal life on earth, it is estimated 70 to 80 per cent are insects.

Christian Science Group Of Canal Point

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be heard Sunday at Christian Science churches.

Opening the Scriptural readings will be this passage from Psalm 19: "The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament showeth his handywork. Day unto day uttereth speech, and night unto night sheweth knowledge. There is no speech nor language, where their voice is not heard. . . . The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul; the testimony of the Lord is sure, making wise the simple. The statutes of the Lord are right, rejoicing the heart: the commandment of the Lord is pure, enlightening the eyes."

Also pointing up the supreme power of God are correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy which include (p. 272): "God is the divine Principle of all that represents Him and of all that really exists."

Hunters, Listen And You Shall Hear

Mrs. Robert Bendixen and a friend, Mrs. Beulah Jensen, both of Lake Charles, La., spent the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Blair in Canal Point and left Saturday for their home.

Enroute home they had to stop to change a flat tire, and about three miles out of Quincy on Highway U. S. 90 their car was attacked by a large buck deer. Before they could drive on he turned and ran head on into the side of the hood several times until he was too stunned to continue and fell by the road side.

A passing motorist stopped and killed the deer and helped them to get their car to a garage in Quincy. Early Sunday morning they were on the road again and arrived in Lake Charles that night about 10 o'clock. The car is in the shop getting a new fender and hood.

Unemployment Is Down In Florida

Tallahassee—Florida unemployment in October dropped for the third straight month. State Industrial Commission Chairman A. Worley Brown said the month was seven thousand below the September figure.

But Brown said unemployment in the state was still considerably above the October 1960 level of 94,600. The October 1961 figure reached 112,500.

The improvement in Florida employment was due to the approaching tourist and holiday seasons, increase in citrus activity and the continued hiring of school personnel in October. Joblessness should continue to decline but the trend will be somewhat offset by seasonal job seekers from other states coming to Florida during the winter, Brown predicted.

Welcome Stations To Be Publicized

TALLAHASSEE — The Florida Development Commission says the revised program of advertising for its tourist welcome stations has been most successful.

The commission said it is getting five times as much advertising from the new program for almost the same amount of money. And it has already increased the crop of tourists stopping by the welcome stations for free orange juice, road maps and other Florida information by 20 per cent.

Roger Stake, head of the commission's tourist division, said they are using a picture of Gov. Farris Bryant on billboards with success. Visitors seeing the picture over the sign "feel like they've got a personal invitation from the governor," Stake announced.

Mental Health To Get New Finances

AVON PARK—Two state agencies plan to seek a grant from the National Institute of Mental Health to finance a treatment program for alcoholic criminals.

Officials of the Probation-Parole Commission and the Alcoholic Rehabilitation Program have agreed to set up a pilot program covering several years for treatment of probationers and parolees whose alcohol problems contributed to their crimes.

Ernest A. Shepherd, administrator of the rehabilitation program, said the specialized treatment service would be added to one or more of the program's existing facilities.

The program has out-patient clinics in Miami, Tampa, Jacksonville and Pensacola and an in-patient hospital at Avon Park.

250 New Baptist Churches In State Goal Set For 1962

A proposed goal of 250 new Baptist Churches and missions in Florida during 1962 will be presented to the Florida Baptist Convention in Orlando, November 14-16. One hundred of these are expected to be started in the month of May.

"This is our convention's answer to the expected fifty per cent increase in population in our state during this decade," was the statement of Dr. John Maguire, executive secretary of the convention to the planning session of the State Board of Missions.

"Mother a Mission in May" is the slogan that will be used in connection with the concentrated drive to start one hundred new missions and churches that month, and it is expected that an additional one hundred fifty new churches and missions will be started during the other eleven months of 1962. This is the greatest undertaking in our convention's history," Maguire said.

Surveys have been made in every county in Florida by the convention's fifteen-field secretaries in cooperation with local missions committees. Total goals by areas actually exceed the over-all goal. Emphasis will be given to new churches, new missions that will become churches, branch Sunday schools, missions in institutions, and industrial plants. Miami association will also major on missions and churches to minister to the great influx of Spanish speaking people in that area.

It is expected that the Florida Baptist Convention which meets in the First Baptist Church, Orlando, will give enthusiastic support to this plan. This is a part of the Southern Baptist Convention's proposal to start 30,000 new missions and churches between 1956 and 1964.

The convention will be presided over by Dr. J. Ollie Edmunds, president of Stetson University, who is also president of the Florida Baptist Convention.

West Coast Wants US41 Widened

SARASOTA—An effort to organize the entire west coast of Florida from Pinellas and Hillsborough Counties south to back the move to widen U. S. 41 to Miami is underway.

Early Wynn, former baseball pitcher, was named temporary chairman of the "Widen 41" committee at a meeting of the Sarasota Chamber of Commerce.

"We are going to try and gain recognition to secure a good road for ourselves," Wynn said. He stated the AAA and oil companies are routing tourist traffic around the section of narrow U. S. 41 from Sarasota south.

Efforts will be made to convince the State Road Department the four-laning of U. S. 41 is a must project of the future.

Trailways Offer A New Bus Service

Florida-bound vacationers will be able to add a new inter-city bus route to their choice of ways to get to the Sunshine State this winter, as well as have their pick of several new low-cost package tours.

Effective Tuesday, December 12, the Trailways Bus System offers a more direct service between New York and Miami via Canal Point, Pahokee and Belle Glade. Four trips daily are scheduled for no charge, through service to Jacksonville and Miami by way of Orlando over a new East Florida route.

Other Florida cities to be served by the route include St. Augustine, Sanford, DeLand, Hollywood and Fort Lauderdale. Time savings for Trailways passengers on the new route are expected to be about 4½ hours.

The eastern route, after touching historic St. Augustine below Jacksonville cuts through the citrus fruit country and the rich agricultural "middle" of Florida, parallels the eastern bank of Lake Okeechobee, and then moves to the Atlantic Coast at Fort Lauderdale. Direct connections are also provided for West Palm Beach.

Major cities served by the new Florida route include Washington, Baltimore, Richmond, Raleigh, Charlotte and Augusta. Connecting service will also be available from Norfolk, Philadelphia and Boston.

Trailways officials anticipate the Southern trek this winter to include many students, young married couples and retired people because of traditionally low bus fares and special excursion rates in effect from many northern points.

Equipment in use on the Florida run will be General Motors Air-Ride coaches with complete lavatory facilities, air-conditioning, reclining seats, individual reading lights and wide scenery-level windows. Stopover arrangements at cities along the way can be arranged in advance for passengers who may wish to break up their trips, according to Trailways.
